The Role

We are seeking an experienced Investment Manager based in New York City to drive the expansion of our US investment platform. You will serve as a key interface between our European industrial operations and the North American investor community — identifying opportunities, managing capital relationships, and actively supporting the growth of portfolio companies.

This is a full-time, on-site position in New York City, reporting directly to the Founder & CEO. The role offers rare early-stage exposure to a transatlantic industrial investment platform with a clearly defined growth trajectory and a path to senior leadership.

Key Responsibilities

- Manage and develop relationships with existing and prospective investors
- Oversee and support portfolio companies in their operational and financial development
- Conduct in-depth market research and financial analysis to identify investment opportunities
- Structure and execute investments across industrial and infrastructure sectors
- Develop and optimize investment strategies aligned with company objectives
- Prepare investment materials, reports, and presentations for internal and external stakeholders
- Work closely with leadership on strategic initiatives and international expansion

Qualifications

- Proven experience in investment management, private equity, venture capital, or corporate finance
- Strong analytical skills with ability to evaluate financial data and market trends
- Solid understanding of investment strategies, financial modeling, and capital markets
- Experience working with or advising portfolio companies is a strong plus
- Degree in Finance, Economics, Business Administration, or related field
- Familiarity with regulatory environments and financial tools preferred
- High ownership mentality, entrepreneurial mindset, comfortable in fast-scaling environments

What We Offer

- Direct involvement in building an international investment platform
- Close collaboration with experienced industrial entrepreneurs
- Significant career growth — clear path into senior leadership
- Equity participation / stock options
- Exposure to real asset investments and scalable industrial businesses
- Dynamic, international environment with high responsibility from day one

Why Join Us

This is a rare opportunity to join an early-stage transatlantic investment platform at a decisive point in its growth. You will not be one of many — you will be shaping the structure, the investor base, and the strategic direction of FREISINGER Capital alongside a founding team with decades of industrial operating experience across Austria, Germany, and broader Central Europe.

The FREISINGER Group's focus on industrial gases, CO₂ value chains, and green energy sits squarely at the intersection of real-asset stability and energy transition growth — making this an intellectually compelling and commercially meaningful role for the right candidate.
